

Park Valley Pool a hit with local patrons

The verdict is in and it's unanimous: Park Valley Pool is a hit.

During the facility's first official day of operation Sunday, more than 270 water enthusiasts gave their support by taking time for a splash in the main tank or a warm stop in the whirlpool.

Among the younger crowd, comments about the $1.4 million pool ranged from "right on" to simply "it's nice."

"It's excellent," declared 11-year-old Jason Fogel while friend Ryan Baker, 10, quipped: "It's indoors."

"I think it's right on, the interior's very nice and it's warm," Darlene Simon, 14, said.

"I think it's pretty good actually," 15-year-old Todd Church said. "I like the hot tub the best."

Saturday's ribbon cutting ceremony drew some 160 supporters and dignitaries ranging from fundraisers to town, county and provincial representatives.

During a brief, but emotional ribbon cutting ceremony, guest of honor John MacKenzie Sr. told the crowd, "It is indeed a pleasure for me to be here and see how the town has prospered and the people that are here. I hope the town continues to prosper and the people continue to enjoy themselves."

An early landowner, MacKenzie donated the land where Rotary Park, the new pool as well as the old pool sit. MacKenzie also donated land for the Royal Canadian Legion building and areas where the Drayton Valley Campground is located north of town on Highway 22.

Regarding his being chosen to officially open the pool, MacKenzie said simply "it is certainly nice for someone to say thanks."

Other dignitaries, including the town mayor, Parkland County Reeve Maurice McCullagh, local MLA Shirley Cripps and Parks and Recreation Minister Peter Trynchy, praised the pool and those who were involved in its creation. The brief speeches were spiced up by demonstrations of synchronized swimming, competitive racing as well as canoeing and kayaking by local enthusiasts.

Describing the pool opening as a "historic day," Mayor Bob Mayhew commended town and county residents, businesses and service clubs for donating the funds needed to complete the indoor pool with all its "cosmetics" and making "the dream come true" during tough economic times.

Representing the inter-service club committees formed to raise funds for the pool, high school principal Rhonda Woods said that in future Drayton Valley's service clubs will work together to help develop projects of mutual benefit.

"It's not often the groups get together to raise money," Woods said. "We got together and we're still together. And if we get a project where it's required we pull together, we'll continue to do that."

The hour and a half opening ceremony, emceed by former resident and recreation board member Roy Anderson, also saw donations from Mobil Oil and Amoco Canada.

Like last year, Tim Sekura and family will on hand for the Beehive Charity Auction Thursday.

Viewing starts 6:30 p.m.

Charity auction Thursday night

The Drayton Valley Association for the Developmentally Handicapped will hold their annual charity auction tomorrow (Thursday).

Items on the auction block can be viewed starting at 6:30 p.m. with the auction to start at 7 p.m. at the Rec Plex.

Some of the items on the auction block include six RCMP belt buckles, two hats from the RCMP musical ride, a trip to Vegas, tickets to Stage West (dinner and theatre) and a local champagne flight.

Proceeds from the Valentine Day auction will go toward a park behind the Beehive Bottle Depot. Last year's auction generated $7,972. Organizers hope Thursday's auction will raise between $5,000 and $6,000.

The Wendy Sekura family and associates will handle the auctioneering.

The worthwhile community event starts at 7 p.m. Don't be late.

Five remain in hospital, fire cause unknown

An investigation into the Feb. 4 Texaco well site fire near Cynthia is continuing.

"We haven't determined the cause of the fire, where it broke out or where the men were on the site yet," said Maureen Bradbury, Texaco government and public relations coordinator.

"One of the reasons we haven't been able to get the information is because we weren't able to talk to the five injured men last week. The doctor advised us not to."

"A lot of these things have to be double checked with them." The five men are still in University Hospital. Danny Spuehler, Charlie Lingard, Darcy Fuks and Duncan MacIntosh are still in serious but stable condition and Craig Marshall is in satisfactory condition.

"The Energy Resources Conservation Board and Occupational Health and Safety are conducting an investigation into the incident," said Ron Paulson, ERCB area supervisor in Drayton Valley.

"Before their findings will be made public there will be some internal reviews and meetings."

"Whenever there are injuries or deaths, Occupational Health and Safety is the lead agency in the investigation," he added.

Show re-scheduled

Drayton Valley Presents has re-scheduled its showing of the Arete Mime Troupe Feb. 22 at H.W. Pickup Junior High School.

According to organization president Mary Poloway, the group had difficulties reaching Drayton Valley for their Feb. 1 performance and promise an "extra super show" this time around.

A modern mime trio, the Arete Mime Troupe consists of Randy Birch, Don Spino and Kevin McKendrick and performs various skits and stunts.

The internationally renowned troupe has been together for about 10 years.

With the show being presented in the H.W. Pickup gymnasium instead of the smaller

Pool registration begins Feb. 23

Park Valley Pool will try a little bit of everything in its programming to find what the community wants and requires in its newest facility, manager Charlene Jenkins says.

From pre-school swimming to scuba diving, the pool was arranged a variety of activities starting with a program registration day February 23 from 9 a.m. to noon at the pool. After, registration will be taken at the pool during office hours only.

Swimming lessons include areas for children six-months to adults with special advance courses and fitness programs.

The pool will also offer Bronze Medallion and Bronze Cross training for swimmers 14 years and older.

A scuba diving course, now filled, will start Feb. 19.

Splash if you like Park Valley Pool.

Canoeing and kayaking will be part of the pool's programming.

John MacKenzie Sr. (centre) officially opened the pool Saturday.

The pool cost some $1.4 million.

Councillor Howard Olsen pours water from the old pool into the new one as part of the opening.

Downtown parking policy hurting business

Drayton Valley's downtown parking policy should be scrapped.

It's simply hurting business. At the last town council meeting it was decided to step up Drayton Valley's downtown parking policy from one day to three days per week. Originally, council policy called for the bylaw enforcement officer to chalk tires and hand out $15 tickets three days a week. But someone at the town office decided to back off this policy when a number of complaints were received. Council doesn't like the idea of backing off their policy, and want people to know that.

What council overlooked at their last sitting was a letter from an outraged shopper who had overstayed their time downtown, and returned to their vehicle to find a $15 ticket. The shopper told the town they wouldn't be back to shop in Drayton Valley.

Instead of even considering the importance of one family not shopping in Drayton Valley, council looked the other way.

It's rather unfortunate because no town, big or small, can afford to lose business.

As we understand it, the parking policy was introduced to discourage employees from parking in front of their place of work. It should be up to the employer to make sure this doesn't happen.

It's doubtful the town's bylaw enforcement officer tags enough vehicles to pay his salary.

The Town of Drayton Valley would make more friends if they threw their downtown parking policy out the window.

Poor turnout for general supper meetings

The County of Parkland Parks and Recreation Board have announced the confirmation of three major cultural recreation grants to groups in our area.

Letters of notification have been sent to the Rocky Rapids Community League for $5,000 to be spent on outdoor playground development and $4,910 to the Drayton Valley municipal library for renovations.

And, a $70,000 grant for the Drayton Valley Ski Club has been approved by the board but still requires provincial government okay. That is expected to take two or three months. The money will be used for a new chalet and land purchase.

Editor's Notes

It appears that Weight Watchers will be coming back to Drayton Valley. To date, 68 people have given their intentions of helping launch another program. They're to start dieting on a serious note March 1.

When Stuart Adams left The Western Review, all the talk of his Montreal Canadiens went with him. Now, I find out, we have another problem, just as serious.

Reporter Phil Courterelle, if you can believe this, is a die-hard Calgary Flames and Stampeders fan.

The one thing we can be thankful for at least, is that the Flames have little success against the Oilers.

What's the price tag for the Park Valley indoor swimming pool in Drayton Valley? I'm glad you asked. The latest figure we have is a cool $1,416,495.51. There's still some things to be done and this is expected to cost another $15,000.

The Drayton Valley Chamber of Commerce have a big job ahead — getting more people out to their general supper meetings. Last week's meeting only drew 23 people including guest speaker Shirley Cripps and her husband. Previous chamber supper meetings have drawn 120. It's obvious some serious promotion is needed. Maybe a good issue would get members out.

County residents uninformed about new pool's program

Dear Editor,

I am a county resident and taxpayer and, like many others, have been looking forward to the opening of the Park Valley pool and waiting anxiously for details of the programs and registration.

With the pool opening scheduled for last weekend I expected to find full program information in last week's Western Review. When no details were published, I contacted the town's recreation department.

The recreation director told me that a pool program brochure was printed and distributed to town residents. No other advertising was planned, and county residents were welcome to pick up copies of the brochure at the pool or Town Office if they dropped in. During our conversation he said The Western Review had expressed an interest in publishing the pool program and that he had told them that they "could if they wanted to."

I feel that the town has a very real obligation to inform area residents as well as town residents about all and any details regarding our pool's operations and programs and need not be obvious, not only in view of the County of Parkland's capital contribution to the pool's building fund, but also because of their commitment to share operating expenses.

It seems obvious that the printing and distribution of costs of the brochure sent to town residents will be part of the advertising budget and will be included in the operating expenses that county residents will be asked to help pay. Nonetheless, Mr. Woolsey informed me that as of this date, he could not justify spending advertising money to publish pool programs in The Western Review for the purpose of informing county residents.

It is not reasonable for the town to count on The Western Review to provide free advertising for this facility. At this point in time I can think of no official notification printed on behalf of the town about the pool since a thank you to all who donated to the building fund. The newspaper has kindly reported to us the details of pool fees and charges as well as the dates of the pool opening.

Since Mr. Woolsey indicated to me that this item would be given low priority in terms of his current workload, it looks as though this situation will not be rectified before the program registration due to take place Feb. 23. This means that county residents will not have been given equal opportunity to participate. In fact, county residents will have received next to no opportunity to become informed and able to take part, a situation I consider appalling as a betrayal of trust. When the county agreed to cost share this pool, county residents were assured that the town would give them the same benefits of pool use as town residents.

I am furious to think that so many families may not have the information required to register in time for the pool programs they have been looking forward to. It seems to me to be a criminal oversight in view of the fact that the town will need the participation of everyone in the area in order to meet the operating costs of this facility.

I have discussed my feelings on this matter with Mr. Woolsey and received from him the correct procedure for registering a formal complaint with the town.

Yours sincerely,
Susan Vickers

Median makes street safer than before

Dear Editor,

After reading your note on the hazard of the median on main street, I felt compelled to reply.

You mentioned that if someone were to back out without looking, there's nowhere to go. Well I can tell you where they went before — right into the oncoming traffic — head on.

The best thing the median does is to keep the traffic in their proper lanes. Before it was built we had people backing right across both lanes, then going whichever way they wanted to.

They would swing across lanes to park from the wrong side. They would pull around and pass slow-moving vehicles or those backing out of parking spaces.

At least now you can back out without worrying about the traffic from the other lane. It is also a place to wait for those who cannot cross the street as fast as they would like to.

It may not be the ideal answer to the traffic problem, but I believe it has made the street safer than before.

Yours truly,
Terry McQuig

Lack of support irritating

Team needs staff supervisor

Dear Editor,

Thank you for allowing me a little space to voice my opinion about a recent incident.

This past weekend, the local high school boys' basketball team members were scheduled to play in a tournament at Hannah. However, they were forced to cancel because they did not have a staff supervisor to accompany them. You see — the coach of this team is not a teacher. He is a local citizen who willingly volunteers his time (two nights a week and every weekend) so that the boys are able to play basketball. The County of Parkland has a policy which states that they must be accompanied by a member of the staff (for insurance reasons).

The previous weekend they were in the same situation and Mr. Woods, the principal, took time out of his very busy schedule to go along with them. As a parent, I thank Mr. Woods for taking time from his busy schedule to do this. However, I feel irritated that they were not able to find one teacher from that fairly large high school staff to accompany them to Hannah. It seems that we are living in a society where people don't want to volunteer for anything anymore, but complain constantly that everything costs so much and there is nothing for teenagers to do.

I am concerned that the students involved will have a real lack of respect for the teachers — but respect is earned not expected. One particular teacher, when approached by the team captain and

"It seems that we are living in a society where people don't want to volunteer for anything anymore, but complain constantly that everything costs so much and there is nothing for teenagers to do."

asked if he would go with them to Hannah, didn't the courtesy to give a reply but just laughed and walked away. Wouldn't you say that it would be extremely difficult to respect a teacher with that kind of attitude?

In closing, I would like to add that I am very appreciative of the teachers who do willingly coach, referee and volunteer for other activities. The ironic thing about this whole situation is that had the teachers willingly put their names in a hat and drawn one out to go — he or she may have had to accompany the boys once every five years. Is that asking a lot?

Sincerely,
Joan Andersen...

Couple's music entertains

By Carol Dietrich

Children were singing, jumping and swinging their arms Feb. 8 to the sounds of music by Lee and Sandy Paley.

The Calgary entertainers presented their songs to the enthusiastic youngsters in Eldorado school's second cultural performance of the school year.

Songs like "Worms After the Rain," "The Smile Song" and "One Green Jelly Bean," delighted the children. Lee played guitar and sang with Sandy as she encouraged the children to join in.

For three years now, the couple has been playing concerts. "We do about 30 a month," said Sandy Paley.

"We're cultivating Alberta first.

"But have planned a 50-concert tour in Saskatchewan beginning September."

The Paley's double album "Sing Me Sun" is their first and she said next summer may see the release of another one.

"Our purpose in doing family concerts is to bring out the child in everyone.

"We try to bring out positive living skills with our songs because we think children need a positive attitude."

Before becoming performers, the two used to give music lessons. "But now that our family is grown up, we are free to do this."

"We wanted to play our own music."

And they obviously enjoy what they do. "No matter how I'm feeling, when I sing to children I always feel better," Sandy said.

The two were asked to do a pilot for television and are waiting to see what the result will be. "It depends on what the network wants."

"Television is good for exposure, but it would make our schedule difficult," she said.

"It would be hard to go out to do concerts and we would miss the one on one with children that we really love."

Amazons turn things around

By Phil Courterelle
The change in the Frank Maddock Amazons is indeed startling.

Disgruntled and despondent only a month ago, the high school girls' basketball team has turned things in their favor and managed a strong showing in their second home tournament last weekend.

The numbers speak for themselves.

Against Grande Cache — a dominating 61-46 win.

Against Bonnie Doon — a painful 58-57 loss in overtime.

Against Spruce Grove — an almost error-free 41-31 victory to secure third place.

Before Christmas, the Amazons had never made it to the championship side of four tournaments — including their own. The team's problems boiled over following a Red Deer tournament early in the new year with coach Dave Schwindt leaving the team.

But after some soul searching on the part of players and Schwindt, things began to look up at a Barrhead tournament Jan. 12 where the team managed their best showing up to that point.

And things have so far gone nowhere but up.

"We had a lack of enthusiasm and people got down," Amazon assistant captain Crystal Van Ember explained following the team's third place win Sunday.

"Then we starting losing and some (players) were saying 'What's the sense of going on if we're going to lose.'

"But (in Barrhead) we showed ourselves we can win and we can want to win.

"Now it's got so we know we can win, we know we have the moves, and now we've just got to do it," Van Ember said.

Following the Amazons' win over Grande Cache in the two-day tournament, came a re-match of last year's championship final between Frank Maddock and Edmonton's Bonnie Doon.

The two games were similar in nearly every aspect except the outcome. In 1983, the Amazons led throughout the game and held off a last-quarter surge by the Lancers to win 40-43.

This year proved different. The Amazons led through most of the game but the Lancers' offensive surge — coupled with a full-court press — upset the local squad and secured a 51-51 tie and forced overtime.

With 15 seconds remaining in the extra-quarter, the score 58-57 and the Lancers playing a controlled offense, the Amazons forced a turnover but failed to capitalize and finished a painful point behind.

"It was a real letdown," Van Ember said of the Bonnie Doon loss. "Everyone was so upset. But before Christmas if we lost by one point it was just another game we lost."

"Now we know we can do it and it hurt us."

Perhaps more important than the close finish was the Amazons' performance Sunday.

According to coach Schwindt, who's kept a decidedly low profile for himself and the team since the new year, the Spruce Grove game plan was to reduce mental errors defensively, offensively and with the press. The result was as described.

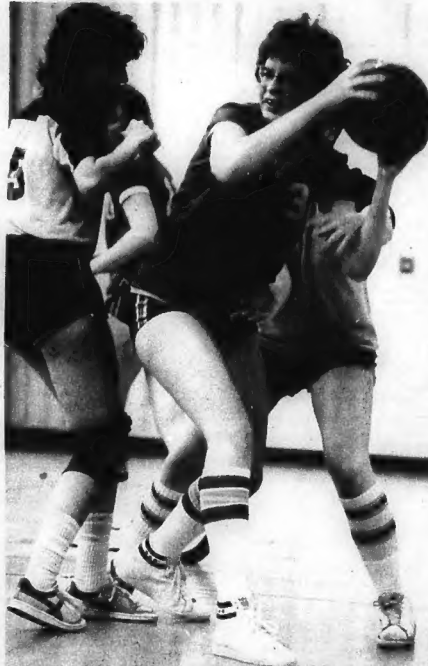

"We reduced our mental errors in all aspects of the game...they worked hard and they got the ball."

"We made a few errors in the first half, but we made up for it," he said.

The Amazons will have their most difficult test of the season this weekend in Lacombe where they'll face zone rivals Bev Facey from St. Albert and Leduc High School.

Both the Amazons and the Warriors head into conference finals March 2 in Edson.

The boys' will host their first tournament in several years Feb. 23.

The Amazons finished 2-1 at the home tournament last weekend.

Board must improve community awareness

Chairman Jane Kwas.

One of the most important goals the town's recreation and culture board has is to increase its level of public awareness by improving communication with community groups, says new chairman Jane Kwas.

"There's really not much contact" with community groups, Kwas says, "and one of our aims is getting back in touch with the groups."

A three-year veteran of the recreation board, Kwas says it's important the public knows it has someone to go to with suggestions and problems.

"A lot of people get scared off by authority figures (the mayor or town council). I would like to think the recreation board is a group people feel they can go to. And I think it's our job to let administration know what the people want and what they don't want."

"I feel it's important people know we're there," she said.

Kwas was elected into the chairmanship at the board's January meeting after serving as vice-chairman. The board moved at the same meeting the vice-chairman automatically fill the chairmanship without a vote.

One of the reasons for the move was to provide each of the five public-board members with experience regarding their own meetings and briefing town council.

"I agree with the reasoning and I'm glad they passed the new motion," Kwas says, "I'm kind of kicking myself now for when I just sat back and listened. What I was scared of most was going to council and putting my foot in my mouth."

"Now that I'm doing it I'm glad. I'm more aware now of what the rec board can do and what it cannot do."

Kwas took over from previous chairman Les Bannerman.

Another of the board's aims is to set specific goals for the new year, "to have something to follow."

Kwas says she's also interested in reviewing the bylaws that affect the recreation board to re-affirm its position and its workings.

While the board's relationship with town council was not as healthy as it could have been three years ago when Kwas was appointed, she says things have improved.

"Things are a lot better now than when I first started out."

"(At the time) there was a lack of communication (but it's helped) tremendously having (Councillor) Tom McGee there and it certainly doesn't hurt having Bob (Mayor Mayhew) and (Councillor) Claire Carefoot."

"As far as I'm aware, (the relationship) is good. I don't see any problems."

REFUTES

I think that I shall never see
A satisfactory referee,
About whose head a halo shines,
Whose merits rate reporter's lines,
One who calls them as they are,
Not as the fans might wish by far.
A gent who leans not either way
But lets the boys decide the play.
A guy who'll sting the coach who yaps
From Vancouver Isle to Halifax.
Poems are made by fools like me,
But only God could referee.

Author unknown

Unlike many of the fans at last Friday's Drayton Valley Blades/Barrhead Elks Central Alberta Junior 'B' Hockey League game, the job turned in by referees George McCorry of Edmonton wasn't all bad.

McCorry, getting his first taste of junior hockey in Drayton Valley this season, handed the Blades 24 penalties and 10 to visiting Barrhead.

The appearance of a referee from Edmonton is the result of a request from former Blades' coach Les Sinclair, who told a league meeting last month he didn't want referees from Edson and Hinton. Sinclair said at that meeting that if he was going to pay $140 for officials, he would rather see them come from Edmonton.

Well, they came from Edmonton last Friday, and while Sinclair is no longer on the Blades' bench, rookie coach Simon Kelly found out the hard way how the boys from Edmonton call it.

Kelly was ejected from the game at the 8:11 mark of the second period for "waving the white towel" after the ref disallowed a goal.

Included in the list of 40 penalties were two very "rare" five-minute majors to the Blades at 12:53 and 15:06 of the final frame. Fortunately for the Blades they had built up a 10-5 lead when the penalties came and some fine penalty killing limited Barrhead to one goal.

The referees also gave the Blades two unsportsmanlike penalties and one to Barrhead with each team collecting a minor penalty for checking from behind.

My biggest knock against hockey officials is their INCONSISTENCE.

McCorry came into Drayton Valley last Friday and did a fair job. I don't have any trouble with the unsportsmanlike penalties because that's usually for talking back. I also enforce the new checking from behind penalties.

BUT, why don't all the officials call these penalties? McCorry did. The next guy doesn't. The players get frustrated. Coaches wave white towels. Can you blame them?

Hockey fans keep ranting and raving about the calibre of hockey. But what about a better job from our officials?

Until the referees start calling the game the same way, there will be problems. And I'm sure we haven't seen the last of referees who don't rate reporter's lines.

Kelly waves the white towel

Simon Kelly isn't a Roger Neilson or even a Vancouver Canuck fan, but last Friday he borrowed an idea from the NHL club.

Kelly, in just his third game behind the Drayton Valley Blades' bench, "waved the white towel" after his club saw a 3-1 lead disappear due to penalties and a go-ahead goal disallowed.

Kelly's towel waving incident, which cost him a game misconduct at 6:11 of the second period, came after visiting Barrhead Elks had tied the game at 3-3 and referee George McCorry of Edmonton disallowed a Blades' goal.

"The puck went off the inside centre post," the rookie coach yelled after being ejected from his usual spot on the Blades' bench.

"I'm upset. I saw things falling apart and had no control," Kelly added. Neilson, the former Vancouver coach, pulled a similar incident several years ago.

With their coach watching from the sidelines the Blades regrouped and went on to hammer the Elks 11-6 before a small, but very appreciative crowd.

Captain Dean Mulgrew led the Blades with three goals and three assists. Sheldon Dunham, Rick Thiel and Doug Bacon added two goals each. Defenceman Roger Gulach contributed one goal and three assists and Don Monts had one goal. Paul Stables collected five assists.

The Blades held a period lead of 3-1 and 7-4 in the penalty-filled game that saw the Blades take 24 penalties and Barrhead 16.

The Elks had a great opportunity to make the score much closer in the third as the Blades were given two majors in the last seven minutes. But the Elks only managed one goal despite the two-man advantage. The coachless Blades showed great penalty killing in holding off the visitors.

Kelly's troubles continued Sunday as the short-staffed Blades dropped a Central Alberta Junior 'B' Hockey League 3-4 decision at Hinton. Kevin Hutchinson led the locals with three goals. Darren Tutin added the fourth as the Blades trailed 3-1 after the opening period and 5-3 after two periods.

As a result of weekend play, the Blades' record fell to 9-24 with seven league games remaining. The Blades are scheduled to travel to Hobbema tonight (Wednesday) and entertain Hobbema Friday and travel to Barrhead this Sunday.

Tournament sought

The Drayton Valley Minor Baseball Association hopes to host the bantam "A" provincial tournament this summer.

Tournament committee chairman John Sullivan has sent a bid into the Alberta Baseball Association. The bid has the support of Dennis Woosley, recreation director in Drayton Valley.

The top four or five bantam "A" baseball teams in the province would play in the tourney, scheduled for late July or early August. The winner would advance to the Western Canada championships.

The provincial baseball association is also looking at bids from Sherwood Park and St. Albert. A decision is expected by the end of February.

Minor hockey makes request for more hours

Although the Drayton Valley Minor Hockey Association didn't get direct support from the town recreation board in requesting additional ice time for next season, it did get the next best thing.

The board voted unanimously Wednesday to endorse the town's current gymnasium space priorities list as a universal policy governing town-run facilities.

That policy, if passed by council, emphasizes youth groups as the first consideration when allocating facility time for user groups.

The policy lists groups and situations in order of booking priority, starting with youth, number of users, the type of facility required, hours required, adult activities and finally duplication of activities.

According to minor hockey director Les Bannerman, who brought the request to the board, the policy will help the association this spring when arena user-groups meet to decide ice time.

Minor hockey is looking for 2½ hours of extra ice time per week — specifically the prime hours now held by the town's two men's hockey leagues on Sunday mornings. Minor hockey has requested those hours every second week, alternating with the Saturday 8:30 p.m. to 11 p.m. hours it now has.

In a letter to the board, Bannerman justified the additional hours quoting the number of teams participating in minor hockey and the ability to hold tournaments on Saturday and Sunday instead of the present Friday and Saturday situation.

The recreation and culture board did not make a direct motion supporting the request but voiced approval during discussions.

In adopting the gymnasium space priorities as a universal policy, the board made one amendment giving youth groups top consideration. Previously, groups with larger amounts of participants had first priority.

The board decided to switch the priorities so other youth organizations — such as minor baseball — did not compete directly for facility time with adult groups having larger numbers.

Bannerman said Saturday, he didn't see any problems with adding hours to minor hockey's present 27½ hour per week timetable or taking the hours from the men's leagues.

Because the town has a policy of having adult user-groups pay 100 per cent of their facility costs, keeping the arena open later at night or possibly into the morning hours "shouldn't be a problem," Bannerman said, explaining the extra costs would be borne by the users.

Top bowlers

Sandy Jackson and Spencer Ross chalked up big games at the Twilight Bowl last week in Drayton Valley to claim bowler-of-the-week honors.

Jackson rolled a sparkling 328 single and Ross wasn't far behind with a 317 effort for top honors in the evening league.

High averages for the week in the evening league went to Laura Barker with a 211 and Duane Benson at 205.

Bowler-of-the-week honors in the ladies' league go to Barker with singles of 276 and 219.

In the Golden Age League Robert Elliot was 116 pins over average, followed by Olga Wasser plus 71, Rose Saunders and Katie Eluk plus 66 and Robert Elliot plus 31.

Maureen Bannard topped the Youth League with 102 over average, followed by Karen Janzen plus 87, Todd McClean plus 81, Robyn Fraser plus 60, Will Challenger and Randy Kelso plus 50.

Basketball request for reduced fees denied

The town's recreation and culture board turned down a request to reduce or eliminate the facility-user fee for an adult basketball tournament scheduled this weekend.

Wanting to avoid setting precedent, the board voted to "regretfully" reject a request from the Drayton Valley Tigers and the men's basketball teams who were looking for a "break" on the fee for their first mixed tournament.

Under the town's user-fee schedule, it will cost the groups $380 for gym time during the two-day tournament.

"The Drayton Valley basketball clubs are uncertain how the tournament will be received by the community and the financial burden may prove to be very costly," the teams' spokesman Parry Mohn explained in a letter to the board.

"We are trying to hold a tournament that will enable us to hold more tournaments in future and at some point, host the provincial basketball championships," the letter continued.

The two groups have also planned a fund-raising dance to help offset costs.

But board members agreed reducing or eliminating the user fee would not be in the town's best interest.

If the recreation board starts making exceptions to the user fee policy now, "it might as well not be in place," Councillor Tom McGee said.

"I'm all for tournaments and having championships coming into the town, but I can't support a drop in the fee," one of the board's new members, Vivian Bredin, said.

Ed Haykowiak, Parkland County's west-end recreation co-ordinator, however said he "didn't think the board would be setting that much of a precedent" since the request was a one-time affair.

While board chairman Jane Kwas voted against the request, she pointed out precedent had already been set when the board supported a similar request from the Drayton Valley Highland Dancing Association last year.

Breton Cougars coach impressed

Despite posting a 2-1 win/loss record, the Breton Cougars finished with a third place showing on the junior varsity side of the Amazon basketball tournament last weekend.

The team's only loss — a 45-16 decision to Leduc — was the first in a string of wins dating back to Feb. 6. In a three-way tie with Leduc and Edmonton's Bonnie Doon, Breton finished third in total points during the round robin.

Regardless, the team's performance impressed coach Laurie Pewtress.

Cougars dropped H.W. Pickup's junior high entry 36-25 in the opening game and downed Bonnie Doon 45-43 in overtime.

"The players were so worried about... Bonnie Doon. Everyone had stage fright but they came out like barnburners," Pewtress said.

"They finally just clicked and now they know they can do it. For a little high school, we're pretty good. I think we can go on to zones."

Last week, Breton High School had success against Thoraby, Calmar and Winfield.

Next weekend the boys' team host their own tournament which Pewtress describes as a "preview of the zones" slated early in March.

"The only team not coming is Westlock (St. Mary's) and they're expected to take the zones and go on to the provincials," he said.

While the local junior high team didn't post any wins during the tournament, they earned hearty praise not only from their own coach but also their opponents.

"Everybody was in awe of the way they hung in there," coach Dave Schwindt said. "There were so many comments, from spectators, other coaches and parents, just marvelling at how they performed."

Playing against high-school junior varsity teams, the H.W. Pickup Packers went 0-3 losing to Breton, Leduc 59-38 and Bonnie Doon 48-30.

"We're talking about nine kids — one Grade 7, two Grade 8s and six Grade 9s — going against teams with Grade 10s and elevens and the odd Grade 12," he said.

The Amazon tournament is one of the only tournaments, aside from the Parkland County championships held in March, the junior high team competes in.

Energy workshop provides consumer hints

Consumers looking at making changes to save energy dollars have four major considerations; comfort, convenience, safety and payback period.

More than 20 people discovered the truth in that statement at the free home energy workshop Feb. 7 at the Parkland County building in Drayton Valley.

Alberta Energy and Natural Resources representative Doug Brough guided the crowd through topics such as insulation, air leakage, heating, electricity and water with some surprising results.

"Seventy-four per cent of your heat loss occurs through transmission through the roof, windows, the basement and walls," he said.

"And one third of that loss is through the basement." He went on to describe basement insulation methods.

"You can put in a moisture barrier, but most people don't. They go ahead, apply framing, insulation and put in a survivor barrier."

And the payback period was relatively short. "Basement insulation can save you $149 a year and the payback time is only four years."

"The areas to concentrate on are the basement and the attic." But he added, "The payback period does not always determine what you do. Convenience has to be considered, too."

Air leakage, through switches, outlets, exhaust fans, ductwork etc., accounts for the other 26 per cent of heat loss, Brough said.

"Two of the best payback items are wall outlet gaskets and caulking," he said. The gaskets will pay for themselves in five months and the caulking in 1 1/2 yr.

Heating soon became the subject of conversation. "There is a three year payback period when you change from an ordinary furnace to a medium efficiency one," Brough stated.

Options for savings in the heating department included checking the furnace's fan belt, changing the furnace filter, and installing a setback thermostat.

"Electricity is responsible for 30 per cent of your energy bill." The biggest user was the refrigerator.

Brough had some surprising information for the crowd. "For the same amount of energy, natural gas costs $1 and electricity costs $5."

"However," he said, "the savings in the electrical portion of the presentation are lower because we don't tell people to go out and buy a new refrigerator to save a few kilowatt hours."

Electricity solutions included a block heater timer, a dimmer device for the home, fluorescent fixtures and low wattage bulbs.

"Water takes up 20 per cent of the bill," he said.

"To save water you could use low volume showerheads, flow restrictors and toilet water savers."

When considering energy costs, remember little things can save a lot, he said. "You should insulate the uninsulated first, look at the importance of maintenance and let payback be your guide."

Hotel/taxi program to aid drunk drivers

By Carol Dietrich

A unique program for getting drinkers home safely from the bar and keeping drunk drivers off the road may soon be in place in Drayton Valley.

Following the lead of the RCMP and pub owners in Williams Lake, B.C., Lance Groeko, manager of the Black Gold Inn, is attempting to establish a hotel/taxi program for patrons of all local drinking establishments.

The local program, with a few adjustments, would be similar to the one in B.C., he said.

The objectives of the Williams Lake program are to reduce the incidence of impaired driving by encouraging patrons to use taxis; to make patrons more aware of the issue of impaired driving by way of posters etc. and to encourage hotel patrons to make a special effort to ensure that their friends and others arrive home safely.

Program themes include: "Friends don't let friends drink and drive" and "Help send a friend home safely".

Under the program, a taxi donation bank is placed in a prominent location in each hotel and patrons are encouraged to make donations.

The money collected is used as taxi fare for those people who feel they cannot drive. People who use the program are asked to leave their keys with hotel staff.

When the patron returns in the morning to claim his keys, he is asked to make a donation to the taxi fund.

Extra money in the fund is given to a service club.

Right now Groeko is in the midst of approaching other hotels in town. "The ones I have talked to say it sounds good but they want to sit down and study it further."

"We'll get all of the hotel people together and look at the program and thrash it out," he said.

"We need co-operation and more people to get it going."

"If all the hotels don't get involved, it might not be too effective, but we'll (Black Gold Inn) do it alone if need be."

The program will cost a certain amount of money, he added. "But we don't anticipate that it will be a lot."

Groeko has yet to approach the taxi company, but said the local RCMP are enthusiastic. "Any kind of program to keep impaired drivers off the road is great with us," said Cpl. Tom Turner.

Getting such a program off the ground takes time. "It may be a month before it's going," Groeko said.

The manager's reasons for trying to start up the program are simple. "To an extent, we have a responsibility to our patrons," he said.

"We have a responsibility other than to get them drunk and throw them out the door."

"These people have families like I do and I'd hate like hell to see them killed."

"Getting killed is against my religion."

Sentence extended for local

A local man was sentenced to 80 days in provincial jail Feb. 7 in Drayton Valley provincial court for breach of probation.

James Samuel Caron received the jail term after failing to complete 25 hours of community service and not paying $370 in restitution.

Court heard that on Mar. 29 of last year Caron was placed on a one-year probation after being found guilty of false pretence charges.

The accused was supposed to finish his community service work and pay back the money within three months, said crown prosecutor Edna Konik.

Caron presented a receipt dated Feb. 7, 1985 in the amount of $370 to the judge and said he thought the town was supposed to contact him about the community work.

"That's not quite good enough," said Judge Alex Shumchuk. "You do your service work through the probation officer."

Your attitude toward probation is not very good," he said.

"If you have no interest in rehabilitation, you should have let the court know."

Winter carnival promises busy three days

The Drayton Valley Chamber of Commerce winter carnival committee plan to get physical.

Chairman Merv Paula told the chamber general meeting last week that his committee was going to get in step with the carnival theme "let's get physical" and start promoting ticket sales.

Paula told a small chamber general meeting, "The committee are all working, budgets are drawn up and plans look good for the March 8, 9, 10 winter carnival."

One of the feature attractions at the three-day carnival will be a fashion show, supper and dance opening night at the Rec Plex. According to Paula Drayton Valley's mascot, Riggy, will make an appearance. A 45-minute fashion show and a 30-minute talent and speech presentation by the four young ladies vying for the carnival queen title will be featured at the supper.

The Drayton Valley Figure Skating Club ice show, with two performances, highlights the activities on the second day. Their evening performance in the arena will feature the crowning of the carnival queen.

The biggest day of the three could be Sunday, with at least six events planned for the golf course. Events will include snow-golf, toboggan races, cross country skiing, log sawing, smooth races and a pre-school program that is expected to include more than 100 youngsters.

The carnival committee will be offering a bus service from the Drayton Valley arena to the golf course, with buses running on the half hour. The bus fare will get spectators into the events at the golf course. A special parking fee will be enforced for people who wish to take their vehicles out to the golf course, where there will be limited parking.

Casual fashions hi-light show

The fashion-conscious in Drayton Valley will have an opportunity to see what's in store for this season March 8.

As part of the Chamber of Commerce winter carnival, a fashion show will be featured.

Models aged from three years to adult will show spring fashions from local clothing stores. The four carnival queen candidates, as well as a surprise model, will be among 15 wearing the garments.

"The emphasis will be on casual clothes, to keep with the carnival's theme of 'Let's Get Physical,'" said Judy Forrest, member of the winter carnival committee.

"But we will have some dressier clothes, too." Organizing the fashion show has taken a fair bit of work, she added. "We've been working on it since December and some of the stores (donating clothes) have not been confirmed yet, because they aren't sure if their spring lines will be in."

The show is planned for 7 p.m. and is expected to last three-quarters of an hour. "Everything has to move smoothly and quickly because dinner and judging of the carnival queens are planned for the evening as well."

Breton plan passes

By Phil Courterelle

The Breton and district recreation board is another step closer to finalizing a major revision of its master plan following a public meeting Thursday.

About 30 people attended the meeting at Carnwood Community Hall where the board unveiled a "rough draft" of the new plan, Breton representative Carolyn Strand said.

The biggest change in the master plan is it's now more specific and outlines development priorities for community halls within the regional board's jurisdiction, Strand said Monday.

These halls include facilities at Carnwood, Berrymoor, Lindale, Fennel, Buck Creek, Breton and New Moose Hill.

"They're smaller halls supplying recreation to local people and some are looking at upgrading ball diamonds or adding on. They'd just like to improve," the Breton Village manager said.

The updated plan — which still must be ratified by the Parks and Recreation Advisory Committee and Leduc County Council — details yearly priorities for various projects. The plan will also be updated every five years.

Regarding facilities in Breton, Strand said, the plan's recommendations are quite general since the village has its own recreation complex plan outlining specific land uses. Strand said the board was also pleased with public turnout and response.

Some of the people present questioned why more information about recreation activities in Drayton Valley weren't included, she said, but explained "the master plan is for our (Breton and district) region only and doesn't concern things going on in Drayton Valley."

"This was about all they were concerned with," she said.

The master plan's revision was also a necessary step in developing policies for the province's new Community Recreation and Culture Grants (CRC) which are expected to be available to municipalities this spring. The five-year CRC program replaces the Major Culture and Recreation Facilities Grant Program (MCR) which ended last December.

Brochure at printers

Drayton Valley's long awaited brochure is at the printers and should be available by March 1.

One person looking for the brochure is MLA Shirley Cripps.

Cripps told the Drayton Valley Chamber of Commerce general meeting last week, "I'm glad the brochure is coming out. I want to send copies to the Department of Economic Development to put Drayton

Valley in the forefront."

On the opening of the new $1.4 million Park Valley indoor swimming pool, Cripps said, "It's a big event in the development of the town."

Killam tries solar heating

Solar heating for Agriplex

A pilot project is underway at Killam which could eventually see their community Agriplex heated by a solar heating system. The Agriplex includes a swimming pool, arena and curling rink.

Push for plexiglass

Users at the Lacombe Ice Centre are pushing for the installation of plexiglass around the board. The latest push for the safety glass comes after Kevin Mayan of the Lacombe Merchants hockey team required 17 stitches to close several facial cuts he received in an incident last month. Mayan was injured when he was checked into the wire mesh around the board.

Donation aids paramedics

The City of Red Deer is a step closer to a new paramedic service. A mystery donation of $112,400 has been received by council. Mayor Bob McGhee said the mystery donor will be known next month. The city has been looking at a paramedic service for the past two years.

New sewage option

The Town of Fort Saskatchewan is looking at constructing their own sewage treatment system and turning its back on the massive regional facility nearing completion south of town. Fort Saskatchewan council has decided to spend $23,000 studying their options.

Family social Saturday

The United Church in Drayton Valley will hold a family social night Saturday in the Elks Hall.

A pot luck supper (bring your favorite dish) starts at 6 p.m. followed by a dance, to the music of Lil and Reg Ross, at 8 p.m.

Admission for this family fun night will be in the form of donations to the United Church building fund.

The family social night is just one of many fund raising events the church building fund committee has planned in an effort to raise $110,000.

Diane Nikifourk, committee chairman, says events held to date along with donations total about $12,000. The committee will be looking at some other major fund raising ideas in the months ahead.

The church hopes to add a much needed christian education wing. The addition was in the original drawings and the land was secured at the time of building the church.

Around the Province

Port may get coal plant

A $100 million coal liquefaction pilot plant may be built near Fort Saskatchewan. Two sites are being considered. The other is refinery row in Edmonton. The proposed plant, which will see construction start in the fall, will create 125 permanent jobs, 300 construction jobs and 500 spin-off jobs in manufacturing, construction and support sectors.

Tourism meeting

The Evergreen Tourist Association will hold their annual meeting and dinner on Saturday, Feb. 23 at Caesar's Inn, Drayton Valley.

The meeting is scheduled for 5 p.m. with dinner to follow. A tour of the new Park Valley indoor swimming pool is also part of the meeting agenda.

The association is holding their director's meeting today (Wednesday) at Edson.

Goat technician speakers

Sara Emond, Alberta's official goat technician, was guest speaker at the Capra Valley Goat Club meeting, held at Debbie Fink's home Feb. 4.

Emond, who is a qualified goat show judge and the owner of one of the province's top Alpine herds, spoke of the shortage of selenium, copper and zinc in most areas of the province and gave advice on vitamin and mineral supplements. She also advised the use of Tasvax seven- or eight-way vaccines for goats.

Marjorie Boake who is one of the area's most experienced goat people, brought copies of the publication "Goats" which is free at the district agriculturist's office.

Bill Mackiew shared memories of his 10 years in goats with chapter members with his collection of photographs.

Joyce Schadeck and Joan Ulderink reported on goat meat markets.

Carole Shannon was welcomed as a new member. She has a herd of grade goats in the Moon Lake district.

The next meeting home of Joan Ulderink will be held at the March 8 at 1 p.m.

Hunters fined

Two Camrose men were fined $400 and had their hunting privileges cancelled for one year Feb. 7 in Drayton Valley provincial court.

Donald Penner and Donald Werenczuk pleaded guilty to hunting and trapping at an unauthorized time.

On Oct. 24 of last year, Drayton Valley Fish and Wildlife officers received a complaint from the Lodgepole area, said crown prosecutor Edna Konik.

"A man had seen two other men loading the body of what he believed was an elk into a truck."

The man recorded the vehicle's license number and reported it, she said.

"The meat was later recovered at a meat packing establishment and the animals horns recovered from a taxidermist."

The men were hunting in an area where it was not open season (until November), Konik said.

"This is an ongoing problem for the fish and wildlife department and I suggest the penalty be substantial."

Werenczuk spoke in defense of himself and Penner. "The day before we shot the animal we saw people coming back from the area."

"We thought we were legal. What I don't understand is why the man who reported us didn't stop and tell us we were illegal."

"Why would he do that," said Judge Alex Shauchuk. "He didn't want to get shot."

"Most people with game in the back of their trucks also have guns," the judge pointed out.

"The excuse that you made a mistake cannot be permitted. You have to know where and when you are hunting legally."

"The seasons are there to protect the animals. If harvesting isn't done properly, there won't be any left."

Credit Unions: 9 million members strong.

One out of every four Albertans.
Credit Unions have over 500,000 members in Alberta. That's one out of every four people in the province. Surprised?

Don't be.

There are over 9 million Canadians who are members of the Credit Union and Co-op Family. It's a family that starts with your local Credit Union.

Membership is the foundation.
Membership is the underlying foundation of your Credit Union. It's what makes it different from any other financial institution. The members own, direct and control their Credit Union. That means economic benefits for you, your community and Alberta.

Working together.
There are over 3,200 Credit Unions and Co-ops nationwide across Canada. The strength of this close ties with the strong links between the provincial and national organizations which "pool" the resources of all Credit Unions to bring members the best in financial services. In this way, Credit Unions of every size can offer you the strength and security you need.

A proud heritage since 1927.
Credit Unions have been part of Alberta for 58 years. In that time they have pioneered a number of exceptional financial services and helped many families get established. They've stood by Alberta and helped it grow. In 1927, the Credit Union called it commitment. Today, they still do.

Teachers face busy convention schedule

More than 4,000 teachers from North Central Alberta will be spotlighting success in teaching at their annual convention on Feb. 28 and March 1 at the Edmonton Convention Centre.

The purpose of this teachers' convention, like that of all teachers' conventions, is to give teachers new ideas, new energy to take back to their students. Almost 100 sessions and workshops, presented by speakers from all over North America, will focus on the positive aspects of teaching. The subject-specific sessions as well as the more general philosophical sessions will spotlight the success of teachers and of their students.

Many County of Parkland teachers are directly involved in the organization of the convention. Gina Vivone and Connie Dykstra from Blueberry school and Russ Roskewich from Memorial High School are all members of the program committee. Several other teachers will be serving as chairpersons for speakers during the convention. Louis Ho from Memorial Composite High School and Robert Hogg from Queen Street Elementary will be offering sessions on extended student tours and computers respectively.

Lee joins municipal board

Drayton Valley's Municipal Planning Commission has a new member.

And he's well-known to local citizens. Chris Lee was appointed to the commission after submitting an application.

"I wanted to get board experience," he said. "The experience in planning and planning issues common for the town goes along with some long-range personal and professional goals I have."

"I've taken an active role in the community (through the Kinsmen and minor baseball) and this is just another step," he added.

"I believe people should become involved in their community."

Lee said he could make contributions to the commission. "I'll have fresh ideas and opinions."

"And bring experience from living in other towns of a similar size to Drayton Valley," the RCMP corporal said.

"The fact that I have no financial interest in the town is a strength, I think."

He is looking forward to the opportunity of sit on the commission, he added.

The municipal planning commission handles planning and development issues in Drayton Valley and consists of three town councillors and three members of the public.

AGT introduces new "900 Service" for users

AGT has announced the introduction of a new service to telephone users in Alberta. Known as "900 Service", it provides a North America-wide information and audience perception network to users in Alberta.

1,900 numbers are used to find out how you feel about products, services or issues.

According to AGT Product Manager Nathan Arthurs, the service "allows a better utilization of the toll network and prevents overload situations and potential long distance network breakdowns." "It also allows the caller to find out information or relay his preferences either at no cost or for less than an ordinary long distance charge," he said.

One of the first companies to be the "900 Service" is First Choice Superchannel - the cable-TV network in Alberta.

"By asking subscribers for their movie preference, First Choice Superchannel has been able to better respond to its audience," Arthurs said. "And at a considerable financial saving from the previous methods used."

Applications of "900 Service" are almost limitless. From shareholder votes, public service information, sports odds and news to music group tour information, audience reaction votes and product demonstrations, "900 Service" service will greatly assist businesses and individuals, at a fraction of previous long distance tolls.

Guide leader enjoys work

While working with local girl guides may take a few hours out of the week, it's time well spent for Karen Wilcox.

"It's a good feeling. They (other guide leaders) really care."

"Sure it takes up more time, but it's fun for me and gives me a good feeling knowing I'm doing something. And I'm learning along with them (the guides)," she says.

"By showing guides how to help out in the community you're not only creating a new generation of volunteers, you're teaching them 'a little more responsibility, to say 'I can do that,'" she adds.

Wilcox moved to Drayton Valley two years ago from Grande Cache and has been working with the guides as a leader since last September. She's also involved with the Elementary 'B' nutrition program.

Volunteering time to help with local youth groups can be just as important to enhancing programs and events as volunteering financial help, Wilcox continues.

"Children need parental encouragement, children need encouragement in everything they do. They need to be told when they're not doing well, but they need encouragement in what they can do well," she explains.

And children aren't the only ones who need encouragement — so do the hundreds of people who do volunteer time to various community activities.

Citizen of the Week

"There's a non-smoking day, a Mother's Day, a Father's Day, why not a Volunteer's Day, just something to stop and take the time to say thank-you."

"And it doesn't necessarily have to be money, just something to say thanks, you did do a good job."

"I know a lot of volunteers in this town that've done a lot and never have anyone say they've done a good job."

Rocky Rapids hall to get new floor

Work is expected to start shortly on a new floor for the Rocky Rapids Community Hall.

"It's imperative the work is done before the spring runoff starts," says Ilene Belva, former secretary-treasurer of the Rocky Rapids Community League.

According to Belva their problems started two years ago with the highway improvements in to Rocky Rapids. The culverts near the hall were apparently removed and a diversion was put in west of the hall to handle water runoff in that area.

But, what happened, is that the water runoff from the hall property and the adjoining highway lays up against the building. That has resulted in serious damage to the floor.

The Rocky Rapids Community League has submitted a request for funds to the County of Parkland Parks and Recreation board.

Acceptance of that request was confirmed last week by County of Parkland recreation director Barb Smith of Stony Plain.

According to Smith, "The county council is saying they will give a grant, but they want quotes on the cost first."

Belva says, "That's impossible because we don't know to what extent the floor is damaged."

So the work will start, with the community league anticipating some sort of matching grant from the county.

"I'm sure their grant will go through," Smith adds.

Joyriding in 'heated' vehicle

The winter season brings a number of familiar hardships to motorists and one of them is the task of letting a vehicle idle until the engine is warm.

All too often people absent-mindedly leave their cars unattended and unlocked, prey to passersby looking for a joyride.

"In cold weather it's a problem in any community, though it can't be considered a serious problem in Drayton Valley," said Cpl. Chris Lee.

"But several cars do get taken each winter."

"Many of the incidents begin near the bars. When it's cold outside, a warm car with the keys inside is hard to resist for someone who is intoxicated."

The motive for these thefts boils down to joyrides, he said, and theft to strip a car for parts is not common at all.

"The incidents are short term and the vehicles generally end up in the ditch."

Similar occurrences can be prevented if the owner has a second set of keys or can remove the ignition key from the keychain, Lee added.

"Anybody who allows their car to be unlocked when it is running is extending an open invitation for someone to take it."

10 families per month

Welcome Wagon kept busy

Drayton Valley's goodwill ambassador reports a steady stream of newcomers to town.

Connie Moffitt, a Welcome Wagon hostess who welcomes newcomers to Drayton Valley, visited 10 families last month compared to four a year ago.

In January, newcomers to Drayton Valley came from Winnipeg, Estevan, several from Edmonton and other Alberta centres.

"Just about everyone coming to Drayton Valley is connected with the oil industry," she said.

"The majority of the families are renting at first, with something more steady later on," Moffitt remarked.

D & P Grading rink win Buck Lake bonspiel

By LeOpal Larsson

The Buck Lake open bonspiel was well attended with 24 rinks participating. The D&P Grading rink emerged the grand champions. They were Wayne Braus, skip; Guy Miller, third; Dwayne Murray, second; and Erant Lasso, lead. They received skill saws as prizes.

Second was the George McLeod rink, third place went to the Gilbert Mackinaw foursome and fourth place went to the Harold Hanson rink.

In the second event the Gere Geiger rink was first, second went to the Theo Westling rink, third and fourth places went to the Gene Seely and Roy Stout rinks.

Top position in the third event was taken by the Jim Dunn rink, second went to the Al Clemmer foursome, third and fourth went to the Dollard O'Conner and Doug Braus rinks.

Buck Lake News

Emil LaBranch of Drayton Valley was the lucky winner of $100 in the pull-ticket draw.

Thanks to all the curriers and helpers who made this bonspiel a success.

Marj Connors would appreciate help in locating her lassie and sable-colored scotch male collie that went missing last week.

Dallas McLeod, grandson of George and Barb McLeod of Drayton Valley, attended the Sledge Dog Invitational Trackmeet at the University of Saskatoon Jan. 26 and 27. He placed third in junior men's high jump, receiving a bronze medal.

Gordon Olberg recently started working at the Home Hardware Warehouse in Wetaskiwin.

The next bingo is Feb. 19. The 5th annual talent show at the Buck Lake Hall will be held Saturday, March 30. Watch for further details.

Speedy recovery wishes to Marj Siegel who underwent minor surgery in the Red Deer hospital Feb. 5.

Please phone any news items to me at 388-2122. It would be appreciated very much.

Gifted and talented students to meet

The teachers and board of Rocky Mountain School Division will be hosting a unique and exciting event on March 2. Gifted and talented students from all over Central Alberta will gather at Pioneer School, in Rocky Mountain House, on "Super Saturday" to participate in a variety of challenging programs.

The event is designed to provide students with an opportunity to explore an area of interest and to meet with other gifted and talented students. Parents and teachers are also invited to attend a seminar set up to discuss issues regarding the gifted and talented.

The student sessions will be presented by a variety of very talented individuals from the area. Richard O'Brien from Red Deer College will present a workshop on 'The Diary of Anne Frank', a play he is currently directing in Red Deer. Younger students may wish to attend a drama session presented by Agrippina Bernardo and Mahinnin Roberto of Caroline, entitled 'Creative Dramatics'.

Drs. Wayne Church and Paulette Comau will explore, with the students, 'Careers in Medicine' which will include a trip to Rocky's hospital to see, first hand, some of the actual work involved in a medical career. 'Wilderness Survival Skills' will include a demonstration of the ways to survive in our harsh climate. The session will be taught by an expert on the subject, Morris Kochanski, an instructor from the University of Alberta. Of course the 'Computers' program will be popular with the students and very well looked after by Rocky teachers, Vivian Hostluk and Stan Olmstead. Young artists will be able to select from sessions

Bylaw passed

Following a public meeting Jan. 28, Village of Evansburg council passed an amending Land Use Bylaw reclassifying certain general residential areas to R2 and R3.

The bylaw was passed as proposed with the exception of the out-dense at the west end of 47 Avenue. Due to a property owner's objections to reclassifying to R2 (single family residences only), the area was left as previously classified R - general residential.

The re-classification to R2 in areas will allow only single family dwellings in those areas. In the newly classified R3 areas, single family and duplex development will be allowed.

Breeders meet

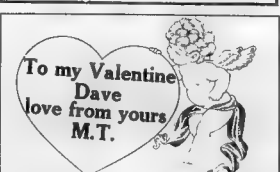

By Alma Johnson

Bingo — a game everyone loves

Bingo, it seems, is one of those funny kind of games every native North American innately knows how to play, even if they've never actually sat down and tried it.

It's an easy game, a fun game and one that cuts across nearly every social and ethnic boundary developed by modern demographics. Old people play it and so do young people; professional people and blue collar people; male and female it makes no difference.

"It's for everyone," Howard Ganske, the Elks' long-time caller, argues with a smile. "It doesn't matter if you're rich or poor."

Bingo, in short, loves everyone and everyone loves bingo.

Any community of any size has one if not several regular gatherings to satisfy patrons' demands. And if a community doesn't, there's usually one not too far away that does.

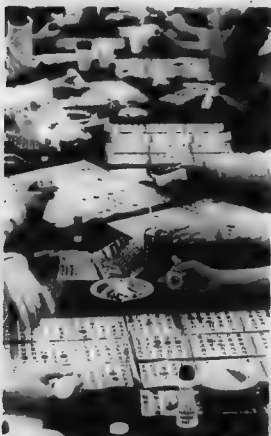

For instance, while Drayton Valley has at least two weekly sessions (The Elks every Wednesday and the Royal Canadian Legion's every Monday) and several monthly (Ladies Auxiliary and Cadet) Wildwood boasts some 140 bingos yearly held by seven different groups.

There's an Alberta Bingo Association, bingo newspapers advertising nothing but bingos and even special markers and felt pens designed, one assumes, especially for bingo-marking.

The game's attraction is a balance between social visits and gambling; you're with friends and can possibly win a few bucks — possibly into the hundreds if not the $1,000 mark if you play locally.

"It's a night out for the (players)," said Ganske, who's called the Elks' bingos for so long he's not even sure when he started. "They do a little socializing; it's also the money but they like to get out and talk with one another."

And most of the patrons are regulars. In a crowd of 150 to 200 people, you might see five or six new faces, Ganske says.

You can't win if you don't play — a lot.

Bill Fox and niece Chantel Warrens, 11, share looks as well as luck during the Elks' bingo Wednesday.

Despite being a 'social' event, players take their bingo seriously.

With its immense popularity, bingo has its own association, newspaper and markers.

Renters beware, read your agreement first

By Student Legal Services
University of Alberta

If you are renting an apartment for the first time this experience may be a disappointing one. If you have rented before you are probably both older and wiser as a result of the experience.

This week's column outlines some very basic points to consider as you move into a new rented home.

Your rental agreement or lease is very important. READ IT! If there is ANY part of it that you do not understand, get someone to help you.

This document is a legal contract. Once you sign it you are legally bound to live by the terms of the agreement. The terms of the agreement are basically the promises you and the landlord make to each other.

It helps if you know and understand what you are promising to do. This is why you must read and understand the agreement.

The landlord will require that you provide a security (damage) deposit. The landlord cannot ask for a deposit that is more than the amount of one month's rent.

This money must be returned to you at the end of your tenancy if you have not caused damage to the apartment.

The landlord must also pay you interest on the damage deposit of 12% per year up to Dec. 31, 1983 and 8% per year after Jan. 1, 1984.

Experienced renters will tell you that landlords can usually find damage to your apartment.

You can protect yourself from having to pay for damage if you complete a Rental Unit Condition Report before you move in. If the landlord does not provide this you can get a Report Form from the Landlord and Tenant Advisory Board nearest you.

It is a good idea to write down each and every nail hole, scratch, dent and spot that you find. Chances are that the landlord will find each and every one of these when you move out.

Make sure the Report is signed by BOTH you and the landlord or caretaker.

You are NOT responsible for normal wear and tear but remember that your idea of normal wear and tear may not be the same as your landlord's idea of normal wear and tear.

If your landlord refuses to refund your damage deposit you can file a complaint with the Landlord and Tenant Advisory Board.

If they cannot get your landlord to refund your money you can then sue your landlord in Small Claims Court. You will not need a lawyer to do this.

The people at the Landlord and Tenant Advisory Board can explain to you how to go about suing in Small Claims Court.

In fact, if you have ANY questions about Landlord and Tenant matters contact the Advisory Board.

If there is not an Advisory Board in your area contact the nearest regional office of Consumer and Corporate Affairs for information.

Trade fair dates announced

Prices will remain the same as last year for Drayton Valley's annual trade fair.

Sheldon Fuson, Chamber of Commerce second vice-president, told last week's general meeting that the trade fair will be held Sept. 6-8 and the booth rental rates would be the same as 1984.

Fuson said letters will be sent out this week to people who had booths in '84, giving them first option on the space. People who had booths last year have until March 15 to decide if they will return in September. After that date, booth location will be made available to anyone.

In other chamber happenings, the new brochures are now at the printers and should be available March 1; a bus is being arranged to participate in a joint meeting with the Hinton chamber on March 4. Yellowhead MP Joe Clark will be the guest speaker at that meeting. Anyone interested in tickets can check with Chad Nichols.

Brazeau road to be rebuilt

The Brazeau Dam road is expected to be re-built this summer.

MLA Shirley Cripps, speaking to the Drayton Valley Chamber of Commerce general meeting last week said, "I'm sure the road will be re-built this summer."

Cripps also told the chamber that some work was being done along the 50-mile Elk River road that connects with the Forestry Trunk road. That road in turn connects with the David Thompson Highway near Nordegg that will open up another route into the area.

The MLA told the chamber, "We have to take a serious look at tourism. We have the natural resources in the form of fishing and the beautiful areas. We have to improve the services. The Brazeau Dam is a tremendous drawing area, but you can't even get a cup of coffee."

Chamber director Gies Hanson, who drives the Lodgepole to Brazeau Dam road on a regular basis, told the MLA, "I'd fix that road before sending any tourists out. It's dynamite. There's 15 minutes between mud and dust."

Cripps also updated the chamber on the government's latest stand on the Makin pulp and paper mill proposed for Drayton Valley.

Marv Tkachuk new school superintendant

The County of Parkland has a new superintendent of public schools.

Marv Tkachuk was named to the position at a special board of education meeting Jan. 31.

The board's superintendent selection committee chose Tkachuk from among 24 applicants for the job of replacing Jack Langford.

Langford resigned Nov. 21, 1984 to become superintendent of schools in Kamloops, B.C. effective March 1.

Terms and conditions of Tkachuk's employment have been discussed but not yet approved by the board.

Tkachuk said in an interview he has been in the teaching profession for 23 years.

He came to the county ten-and-a-half years ago to become a school principal in Spruce Grove. For the past four-and-a-half years he has been an assistant school's superintendent in Parkland.

His familiarity with the system will be a "distinct advantage in understanding areas requiring improvement," he said.

"Born and raised in rural Alberta" but having also lived in urban settings, Tkachuk said he knows the particular concerns of parents in each.

He said he believes the education system exists only because of the children. All other activities within the system must be in support of education.

The County of Parkland system has sound resources, high quality teachers ("and we have high expectations for them"), a strong contingent of support personnel and excellent facilities.

The school board is interested in the educational welfare of children yet is aware of the need to act responsibly in economic terms.

Tkachuk said one of the major challenges he sees for the system is the need to prepare children for a constantly changing society. Children need to be equipped with the skills necessary to handle change.

They must also develop attitudes which allow them to understand interpersonal relationships in an often impersonal society. In a highly technological society there is a need for "high touch."

Administrators and elected trustees in the county school system will face the continuing challenge of balancing their mandate to maintain economic responsibility with their mandate to meet student needs.

Tkachuk said he doesn't like to think in terms of problems, however. Problems can overwhelm a person. Thinking in terms of challenges enables one to focus on opportunities.

Tkachuk said he is looking forward to his new job and has already started making the transition toward accepting his new responsibilities.

He said he believes he will have the support of all people interested in education in pursuing his tasks.

Public education is much better served if there is an open flow of information, he said, and he welcomes parental and community input.

Tkachuk is "happily married" to his wife Georgina and has two daughters, Tammy Lynn and Sandra Marianne, in Spruce Grove schools.

The board of education has formed a five-member committee composed of chairman Ken Fuhr and trustees Pearl Nielsen, Henry Rondeau, Don Brandenburg and Maurice McCullagh to recommend the appointment of an acting assistant superintendent or to recruit candidates for a new assistant superintendent.

Build your RSP with more options.

With a Royal Bank Retirement Savings Plan, you get all the options you're looking for.

That gives you more flexibility. If you want a guaranteed high interest rate deposit, we have it. If you want daily interest savings, we have it too. If you want a term deposit redeemable or non-redeemable, it's your choice. We have more options and more ways still for you to combine them. So you can pick an RSP that's exactly right for you.

Now if you find getting a Royal Bank RSP convenient too. We have an RSP specialist on hand to help you at every branch across Canada.

Our interest rates are truly competitive. And unlike some other RSPs, we don't charge an opening or administration fee on deposit options.

Come into any Royal Bank branch today. Our RSP specialists will be glad to review all our options with you. And you can pick the ones that best suit your needs.

ROYAL BANK

Special family swimming fees

Families planning on making good use of Drayton Valley's new Park Valley indoor swimming pool won't have to cough up the $50 yearly fee all at once.

Due to public pressure, council decided last week that families who had trouble paying the $500 would be allowed to make three equal payments of $125 each. The extra $25 that this will generate will go toward administration costs. There was some talk amongst councillors to come up with an equal payment plan for all other age groups using the pool. But it was felt the $60 for pre-school, $120 for youth, seniors and handicapped and the $120 adult fees could be paid in one payment.

"If there's a public outcry on the fees, we can look at them in six months," Mayhew said.

Trio wins poetry awards

Prize winning poets in the 55th Annual Alberta Poetry Yearbook were honored at a recent Canadian Authors Association meeting in Edmonton.

The Yearbook competition, which has been held continuously since 1930, is open to poets across Canada and this year 1,357 poems were entered.

Three young Entwistle poets were among those awarded. Tammy Middlemiss and Darryl Klingspohn received 2nd and 3rd prizes in the Youth Class while Dwayne Edmundson received the special Henry Vermuelen Book Award.

The Alberta Poetry Yearbook has a history of encouraging young writers. Novelist Aritha van Herk, poet Leona Gom and journalist Stephen Hume were all published for the first time in the Yearbook.

Alberta 'play' in Wildwood

The touring 'Prairie Church of Buster Galloway' stops in the Wildwood Community Hall tomorrow (Thursday) night.

Curtain time is 7 p.m. Tickets are still available at the Wildwood Confectionary.

The stop over in Wildwood is part of a two-month tour of Alberta and British Columbia that opened Feb. 1 at Fort McMurray.

The Prairie Church of Buster Galloway is the story of Mac, the popular manager of the town's only remaining grain elevator. Mac finds himself in a dilemma: he wants to retire and travel — but not until he collects a mysterious and absurd debt from Buster Galloway, a wealthy, local farmer and one-time friend. The play develops with wry, prairie humor to give an honest rendering of rural life.

Written by Bonnyville-born Lyle Victor Alberta and directed by Northern Light Theatre's artistic director, Jace van der Veen, The Prairie Church of Buster Galloway was originally produced by Northern Light in March 1983. The following fall, it was televised by CBC for national broadcast. The touring production of this highly successful play will feature Frank C. Turner, Robert Winslow, Wendell Smith, Wally McSweeney and James Downing. Robyn Ayles will design sets and lighting and Peter Higgins will design the costumes as they did for the original production.

Twelve compete in 4-H Valentine's contest

The Lobstick 4-H Beef and Multi Clubs will be hosting a Sweetheart Valentine Dance, to be held Saturday, Feb. 16 at 8 p.m. at Camp He-Ho-Ha. Twelve contestants will be representing the following clubs:

Lorne Radcliffe

Lorne Radcliffe is the Valentine Sweetheart contestant representing the Lakemere 4-H Beef Club. He is entering his sixth year as a member of the club.

Lorne is 15 years old and attends Memorial High School as a Grade 10 student.

Debbie Webster

Hi! My name is Debbie Webster. I'm almost 15 and in Grade 9 at Grand Trunk High School in Evansburg.

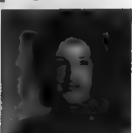

I live northwest from this little town. This is my third year in 4-H and I belong to the 16-A tractor club and the Pembina Horticulture Club.

Leanne Pearson

Leanne Pearson is the Valentine Sweetheart candidate for the Winterton 4-H Light Horse Club.

Leanne is 15 and a Grade 10 student at Spruce Grove Composite High School. At present she has no definite career plans - just wants to enjoy the normal life of a teenager.

Cheryl Hofmann

My name is Cheryl Hofmann. I am 14 and I live at Seba Beach on an acreage. I go to school at Stony Plain Junior High and I am in Grade 9.

I like horseback riding and swimming. I enjoy playing all kinds of sports and trying different things I haven't tried before.

I am representing the 16-A Tractor 4-H Club.

Carmen Veldhouse

I am 16 years old and belong to the Lobstick 4-H Beef and Clothing Clubs. I attend Grand Trunk High School. I enjoy crafts, animals and music.

This is my sixth year in 4-H and I'm really enjoying it.

Craig Webber

My name is Craig Webber and I will be representing the Spruce Grove Beef Club.

I'm 17 years old and in Grade 12 at Stony Plain Memorial Composite High School.

This is my eighth year in the 4-H program.

Jenny Brundell

My name is Jenny Brundell. I am 15 and in Grade 10 at Onoway High School. My hobbies include dogs, horses and hockey.

I have been in 4-H for five years and I am proud to be representing the Tailwaggers 4-H Club in Spruce Grove.

I would like to wish good luck to the other contestants and a happy Valentine's Day.

Casey Hetherington

My name is Casey Hetherington. I am 13 years old and live in Stony Plain. There are four in my family.

I am interested in horses, school work and all sorts of sports. I am representing the Warden 4-H Light Horse Club.

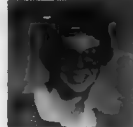

Richard Berg

My name is Richard Berg and I am 16, in Grade 11 at the Mayerthorpe Junior/Senior High School.

My main interests are dairy farming, music, girls, 4-H, and trucks. Dairy farming is important to me because that is what I will be doing after I graduate.

The most important thing I like that I forgot to mention is going to dairy shows.

Kevin Porter

Kevin Porter, 14, will represent the Whitetree 4-H Beef Club.

He attends Duffield School and enjoys volleyball, basketball, track and field and showing cattle.

Kristi Lundin

Kristi Lundin is an 18-year-old graduate of Stony Plain Memorial High School.

Kristi has been a 4-H member for six years and is very proud to represent Duffield 4-H Beef Club.

NEW SERIES STARS HIRSCH — Judd Hirsch stars in a new CBS detective series premiering Friday, March 15

Judd Hirsch

"Detective in the House" is the story of Press Wyman, a happily married man who gives up his well-paying engineering job to pursue his dream of becoming a private detective. His wife, played by Cassie Yates, returns to schoolteaching to pay the bills, forcing him to double as a househusband and investigator

VISIT TO WONDERLAND

Film maker Irwin Allen will produce a four-hour miniseries about the classic Lewis Carroll tale of a little girl's adventures in a strange land "Alice in Wonderland" is scheduled to begin production on March 12 to be broadcast on CBS in the 1985-86 season

The two-part miniseries will be a combination of Carroll's "Alice's Adventures in Wonderland," written in 1865, and the 1972 sequel "Through the Looking Glass." The stories were inspired by the author's friendship with Alice Liddell, daughter of the dean of Christ Church School in Oxford

Carol Channing

Casting so far includes Carol Channing as the White Queen, Red Buttons as the White Rabbit, Imogene Coca as the Cook, Ann Jillian as the Red Queen, Jayne Meadows as the Queen of Hearts, Robert Morley as the King of Hearts, Anthony Newley as the Mad Hatter and Martha Raye as the Duchess. Composer Steve Allen has written 29 songs for the special

BLACK MUSIC IN AMERICA — "Thank God," a TV series dramatizing almost four centuries of black sacred music in America, will air on PBS throughout February, which is Black History Month

The series uses drama and song to trace black sacred music from Africa before the slave trade to the development of the emancipated black churches in the United States. Dr. Wyatt Tee Walker, who holds a Ph.D. in the study of black music, will host the series
